

FIVE RECOGNIZABLE SIGNS YOUR FURNACE NEEDS REPAIRED IN YOUR HOME

How do you know when your furnace needs fixed? BluFlame Service Co. has created this simple guide to help you look for warning signs that your furnace needs repaired. Don't wait for things to go awry, ending in inconvenient furnace breakdown. Pay attention to how your furnace operates. If any of the following symptoms appear, it is time to call in an expert to repair your heating system.

SIGN 1 NOISY! BANGING, HISSING AND RATTLING SOUNDS.

If your furnace is making unusual noises, such as clicking, popping, vibrating or rattling, it could be an indicator that your heating system needs repaired. Or it could simply be a loose cover panel. Better to be safe than sorry. Contact a repair expert to get your furnace looked at.

SIGN 2 STALE AND STUFFY! DRY, DUSTY AIR INSIDE YOUR HOME.

Do you have a dry throat, nose or skin? Are your clothes constantly clinging to you from an overabundance of static electricity? These could be a sign that your furnace is not working properly. Furnaces in need of repair may have trouble creating clean air and proper humidity levels to keep your family comfortable.

SIGN 3 EXPENSIVE! HIGH UTILITY BILLS.

As furnaces age, they become less energy efficient causing your gas and electric bills to go up. Contacting a furnace repairman can help save you money every month.

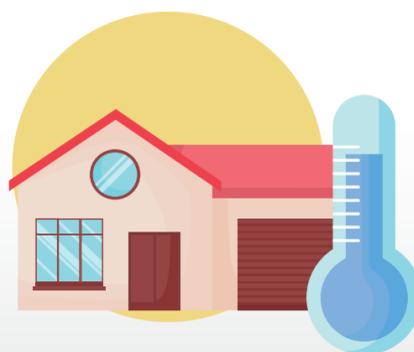

SIGN 4 STINKS! LINGERING SMELLS AROUND YOUR FURNACE

Often the first time you turn your furnace on in a while, there is a temporary smell. However, if the smell does not fade or you smell gas, there could be a leak or an excessive amount of dust inside your furnace.

SIGN 5 BRRRR! INCONSISTENT TEMPERATURES IN YOUR HOME.

Constantly adjusting your thermostat to try to keep each room warm may be a sign that your furnace needs a fixed. As your furnace ages, sometimes they lose their ability to heat your home equally.
